

Media Contact:
Janet Kaplan
Marketing Operations
Global Teletherapy
443.961.1331
janet@globalteletherapy.com

For Immediate Release:

Global Teletherapy's $1000 Essay Scholarship Winner

BALTIMORE, MD, USA, December __, 2020: Global Teletherapy is proud to announce this year's recipient of the Global Teletherapy Annual Academic Excellence Award. Global Teletherapy understands the daunting challenge of financing a college education for so many of our youth and is delighted to help defray the rising costs of higher education. Each year the $1,000 merit-based scholarship is awarded to the winner of a 2,000-word essay contest. This year's topic was, "Understanding the importance of bettering yourself." Students were asked to discuss why self-improvement and character development are vital, ways they can grow and build themselves, and how to utilize their strengths and talents in the process.

This year's winner, Hannah Swift, shared her inspiring journey of self-discovery and self-improvement. Hannah wrote how she believes self-improvement and character development requires the ability to embrace new relationships and the willingness to apply lessons learned from personal experience and the experiences of others. Hannah related how she took opportunities to interact with those from other cultures and backgrounds. She shadowed therapists and forged relationships with patients and donated her time at a camp in Alaska. Deep in Port Alsworth, Alaska Hannah grew from adapting to the cultural differences of Native Alaskan tribes, and continues to cultivate that sense of patience, understanding and empathy for others in all her walks of life. Hannah is currently a junior at Clemson University in South Carolina with ambitions of becoming a physical therapist to help bring joy to children and to maximize their potential. GT would be privileged to one day have Hannah on its team.

About Global Teletherapy

Global Teletherapy staffs online therapeutic services by connecting students in K-12 schools nationwide with high-quality speech-language pathologists, occupational therapists, and mental health professionals through their state of the art video conferencing. Due to their responsive communication, personal attention, and concern for detail that ensure the success of students and school communities, Global Teletherapy has become a leader in the industry. They continue to invest resources in expanding their reach and meeting the ever-increasing demand for online therapeutic services across the country. For more information, visit <https://globalteletherapy.com>.