OT Interventions in Teletherapy

BALTIMORE, MD, USA, December 28, 2020: As remote therapy expands unabated across the globe, Global Teletherapy has become an essential resource in supporting clinicians and assisting them in adapting their therapeutic services to the online venue both quickly and effectively. It's just another part of The Global Difference®.

With this in mind, Global Teletherapy is proud to present a new series of Vlogs entitled "OT Intervention." These Vlogs, packed with important insights and helpful guidance, were created by Global Teletherapy's Lead Occupational Therapists (OT), Traci Gerner and Baila Merling, to help occupational therapists overcome some of the common hurdles in adapting to the online venue. This new four-part series will help OTs to better guide their students in mastering critical skills with Scissors, Handwriting, Visual Perception, and Sensory Processing.

The OT Intervention Vlogs follow on the heels of Global Teletherapy's earlier acclaimed Vlogs, "10 Tips for Effective Virtual Assessments," Creating these Vlogs for therapists is just another way that Global Teletherapy is helping clinicians worldwide by remaining Globally Focused.

Global Teletherapy's Clinical Director and co-founder Rina Goode remarked, "With OT being such a hands-on therapy, it is often difficult to visualize how this service can be provided online. Our lead OTs, Traci Gerner and Baila Merling, offer invaluable guidance on how to provide intervention online for some of the most common skills targeted by Occupational Therapists."

About Global Teletherapy
